

Build PEACE at your Library Engage Children & Youth in Peace Day!

The United Nations International Day of Peace (“Peace Day”) is observed across the world each year on and around September 21. Peace Day Philly, the Philadelphia region initiative for Peace Day, will take place Sept. 16 - Sept. 22, 2018. Learn more about Peace Day, local events and more at: at www.peacedayphilly.org.

Set aside time during Peace Day Philly to engage kids in peace activities that build awareness, understanding, compassion, racial/intercultural respect and citizenship.

Here are a few ideas for bringing Peace Day into your library...

 Breathe Peace! Kids can watch this 3-minute video on breathing & mindfulness: <https://vimeo.com/114715169>. Then lead them in a simple breathing exercise <http://bit.ly/1fdBjMu>. Kids can write or draw how they felt before and after peace breathing and can keep images in their desks/lockers as a reminder to breathe.

 Spin Peace! Create pinwheels with peace words and images. Go to <http://bit.ly/1FloMur> for this and many other peace art ideas.

 Read Peace! During regular reading times, share a multicultural children’s book <http://bit.ly/2rXwJN4> - or an inspiring book <http://bit.ly/2iSVfHz> - about Peace.

 Pledge Peace! Kids can create and share their own Peace Pledge. For templates: <http://bit.ly/1uFtPoI>.

 Explore Peace! Share one of the Global Oneness Project’s lessons, like a refugee photo essay: <http://bit.ly/2rEy7Rt> and spark a discussion about global issues.

Many more Peace Day activity ideas and resource links can be found in the “What Can You Do?” section of www.peacedayphilly.org.
