There are plenty of ways to “be the change,” as Gandhi said — but what are the tools that successful change-makers actually use? Join us for this workshop on identifying your strengths, building collaboration, and finding your way around obstacles, in ways that make sense for your own goals.

SACRED
